Pinchas

In this week's Parsha we see someone new, his name was Pinchas and he was Aharon's grandson. He killed one of the Jewish princes called Zimri. Zimri did a very bad sin! But, everyone was too scared to punish him as he was prince.

So, Pinchas picked up his courage and punished him for Hashem. Hashem in the end gave him a reward of allowing him to become a Cohen.

Before they entered Israel, Moshe was dividing the land to all the 12 tribes by using a lottery. However, there were five girls who were the daughters of Tzelafchad. Their father had passed away and had no boys, just girls. So the daughters also wanted to have land! Moshe wasn't sure what to do. He went to ask Hashem and He answered;

"Yes, the daughters of Tzelafchad are right, they should get land!"

So, they all got land. Hashem also added a new law stating that if someone doesn't have son's, their daughters will inherit their land.

We then see Yahushua takes over from Moshe as the leader for the Jewish people and will bring them into Israel
